

PRESS RELEASE: Judge denies Motion to Remand in the case of Swifties vs. Ticketmaster

July 20, 2023

To whom it may concern:

We are the legal team representing Taylor Swift fans in their case against Ticketmaster. Our five claims against Ticketmaster include: breach of contract, fraud, negligence, negligent misrepresentation and antitrust violations. Our lawsuit is about protecting consumer rights, exposing Ticketmaster's abuse of their monopoly power, and holding them accountable for their deceptive business practices.

Today, Judge Wu denied our Motion for Remand that would have returned the Taylor Swift fans' lawsuit against Ticketmaster back to California State Court. This case was filed in California State Court and that is where this case needs to be tried. This is not a case that belongs in Federal Court. We disagree with the ruling today denying our remand back to State Court. We will be appealing this decision to the 9th Circuit and even the Supreme Court if need be.

This is only the beginning of this case. The lead attorneys in this case, Jennifer Kinder, John Genga, and Griffin McMillin, continue to proudly stand for the concert-goers around the country. This fight is far from over. For the next hearing, our Plaintiffs will mobilize again and let their voices be heard.

"Don't get sad, get even."

Please reach out to us or our plaintiffs if you would like to discuss our case further. I have attached the tentative denial of our motion from 7/18/23 for your review.

Thanks,

Jennifer A. Kinder

Attorney, Kinder Law PLLC

Dallas, TX

e: jkinder@justcallkinder.net

o: 214-812-9800; c: 214-717-0128

<https://www.takedownticketmaster.com/>

Griffin McMillin

Associate Attorney, Kinder Law PLLC

e: gmcmillin@justcallkinder.net

o: 214-812-9800; c: 972-740-1919

John M. Genga

Attorney, Genga & Associates

Encino, CA

e: jgenga@gengalaw.com
o: 747-231-3400; c: 310-251-1774
www.gengalaw.com

PLAINTIFF CONTACT INFORMATION

 If you would like to speak with a plaintiff in a particular locality please reach out to Melanie Carlson at melanie@takedownticketmaster.com.